Your Interactive Media Works, YIMW, is seeking a candidate to join our group with the potential to become a full managing partner.

The successful applicant will be well versed in all phases of media production processes. This would include but is not limited to: video and audio production, video editing, DVD programming, photography, script writing, graphic arts, marketing, training, and web site management. In addition, a sales background and good presentation skills will be a key element for being successful in this position.

This is not a traditional full time employment position and income will be based strictly on performance and commissions. For more information and specific details please contact us via email at yimworks@gmail.com

Recent Accomplishments for YIMW:

- A New Jersey based utility company commissioned YIMW to create a half hour Safety DVD produced in full HD. The project required us to travel to 5 generating stations, including one in the New York City area and several near the NJ capital to shoot all on-location footage.
- YIMW produced a 2 hour DVD featuring the many of the activities of a local religious group during 2009. The video production highlights the inimitable programs, enthusiastic spirit, devoted parishioners and dedicated pastor during the parish's final year of existence. The DVD exhibits the cultural richness, traditions and spirited style that made the parish a unique place of worship where all were welcome.
- A Pittsburgh based manufacturing firm, specializing in producing parts and systems for nuclear submarines, contracted YIMW to produce a Safety DVD for outside contractors entering their facility. The 20 minute program explains the security access procedures, hazmat areas and special passport and requirements for specialized badges for security clearance areas.
- YIMW partnered with a local actor and writer, to produce a new HD "Walking Tour DVD" of downtown Johnstown. The 15 minute program takes viewers on a whimsical journey to various landmark locations throughout the city. The on-camera talent explains, with a dash of humor, how to walk from place to place and gives a brief history lesson related to each location. The 10 finished walking tour segments are available to view on YouTube.
- A winter storm provided our video crew a unique assignment to photograph and tape an aerial sequence for an industrial company in Maryland. The scenes were shot from a Jet Ranger helicopter, equipped with a Wescam stabilization camera. The company has numerous clients in warmer climates, like Southeast Asia and Africa, and specifically requested their Head Quarters building be shot in a snow covered scene.
- To promote businesses and organizations throughout the central and western regions of Pennsylvania and portions of Maryland and West Virginia, our company created a half hour TV series, "Your Interactive Media Works TV Show". Our show focused on commercial and industrial businesses, our Allegheny mountain lifestyle, scenic, recreational and tourism opportunities, special events and outdoor activities.
